Work Experience

Effective Student Marketing INC, Andover, MA, 2014
Graphic Design Internship

During my time at this company I worked with existing clients designing projects for social media use, such as facebook tabs for select for profit colleges. Along with working with outside clients, I worked on in-house design projects for use within their personal blog and website.

Inphantry LLC, Boston, MA, 2011
Graphic Design Internship

As part of a high school Internship placement program I was given small related to larger design projects. I developed wire frames to illustrate how a user would navigate a piece of interactive media, as well as decoding the design mock up so that the developer could create the final product.

Design Experience

Body of Work, Brand Identity
University of Massachusetts Dartmouth, 2014

This particular project was a large scale branding project conducted for the majority of the beginning of my senior year. Within this project the goal was to create a brand identity for a business of my choosing, particular design elements included logo design, catalogue design, web design and interior design. This project taught me how to go about conducting a large scale complex project over a long period of time as well as constantly redesigning the products to keep an overall consistent design.

Connecting For Change, Poster Design
University of Massachusetts Dartmouth, 2014

In my Senior year design course we worked with an outside client to create a poster to promote a social activist conference. While working with the client there was a need to convey design principals and decisions to non-designers, this was the first time I had experienced working with non-designers. Through this project I learned to communicate my thoughts to a sometimes difficult non-design client. This project culminated in my particular poster being chosen to be displayed around New Bedford, MA to promote the conference.

Oh The Places Jamie Goes, Information Design
University of Massachusetts Dartmouth, 2014

As part of my junior year graphic design course I created an information graphic about the things that I do each and every day. Within this project I organized data that I gathered personally into an easy to navigate and visually pleasing information graphic. Through this project the organization of collected data along with creating personalized images to convey said information were aspects that I brought out of this learning experience.
